LA Continuum of Care Board Statement on Continuation of Today's General Membership Meeting

LOS ANGELES - Today, LA CoC was fully prepared to hold a vote to replace LAHSA, who had been designated by the LA CoC to perform important roles in the region's homelessness response system. The process to select new entities was handled via a public and transparent procurement process with independent reviewer scoring. The vote had to be continued today to ensure that all LA CoC members would be able to participate, given an unexpectedly high number of individuals who joined the online meeting.

The need to replace LAHSA came after the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development suspended LAHSA, preventing it from continuing to perform those roles, and a federal court order from Judge Carter requiring the LA CoC to accept applications for other entities to take on those responsibilities. Those roles include submitting the region's consolidated application for federal funding, coordinating the homeless count, overseeing the region's homelessness data, and matching unhoused people with available housing. Today's meeting was meant to be the final step of the court-ordered process, but it could not continue because the online platform had reached capacity, which would have prevented additional members from casting their votes. In order to ensure transparency and participation, the items were continued and will be re-noticed as quickly as possible.

The LA CoC will continue to work diligently to comply with Judge Carter's strict deadlines and preserve the LA region's ability to control and prioritize available federal homelessness funds.
